d\plainLori – I think the EPA could potentially have staff to run the heavy equipment through a mission assignment, but not the equipment itself – they'd rent that.

d\plainI think there was something lost in the translation. We were speculating as to what we might be able to if we got a mission assignment and it was brought up that the OSCs might have access to equipment sources for rental that the locals and states may not have. But we don't have any large equipment stockpiled.
